

Lack of portability of phone numbers gives the wireless phone companies the same power as MicroSoft has on computers. The Bells had complete control once before. Why aren't they meeting their requirements regarding portability. It was made a law wasn't it?